Scribing: Demonstrating Artistry and Craftsmanship in Creative Tiling

Those familiar with tile recognize that stunning tile installations have stood the test of time and endured as practical works of art for generations and generations.

Today's tile setters participate in that tradition of precision and artistry with every job. And there are some techniques that take tile craftsmanship to the next level.

Scribing is one such technique.

Rules of Geometric Architecture – An Analysis of the AA House

The AA House by Carlos Ferrater and Xavier

Martí of OAB is one of the most unique single-family homes that has been built in recent times. Located in Sant Cugat, Spain next to a forest bordering a golf course, the house rises from the road as a series of sloping roofs among the trees in the garden that form a magnificent belt of picturesque scenery.
